

Shane Berry

Senior Vice President and General Manager, Global Client Group, Global Corporate Payments

American Express Company

Shane Berry is Senior Vice President and General Manager for the Global Client Group, Global Corporate Payments at American Express. In this capacity, he is responsible for customer satisfaction and growing relationships with American Express' largest and most strategic customers around the globe. Shane and his team are focused on helping corporate customers uncover new opportunities to drive savings through our travel and entertainment (T&E) and business-to-business (B2B) payment solutions and strategic insights.

Mr. Berry joined American Express in 1990 and has held a range of senior positions at the company. Previous to his current role, he was Senior Vice President for the National Client Group, Merchant Services Americas, responsible for developing and overseeing all aspects of the company's relationships and strategy with merchants that have a national footprint in the U.S. He was also Vice President, Acquisition for International Consumer and Small Business Services, overseeing improvement and innovation in international card acquisition channels. Prior to that role, Mr. Berry was Vice President for Global Business Partnerships within the Global Corporate Services unit, where he was accountable for customer satisfaction and growing relationships with American Express' largest U.S.-headquartered customers with global corporate expense management programs.

Before moving to the U.S. in 2001, Mr. Berry spent many years leading international teams. Based in London, he was Vice President, Multinational Accounts, responsible for relationships with American Express' largest Europe-based multi-national corporate customers. Prior to that, he was based in Paris and served as Vice President, Business Development for the Travel Services Group, where he was focused on all markets outside of the U.S.

Mr. Berry earned his bachelor's and master's degrees from Trinity College in Dublin, Ireland and lives in Connecticut with his family.
